

Julian Dowdeswell from Cambridge University, UK – Semester 1 2018 (Cambridge Fellow)

Where you have come from and what do you teach?

I'm Director of the Scott Polar Research Institute and Professor of Physical Geography in Cambridge University. In Cambridge I teach undergraduates about glaciers and ice sheets - their modern responses to climate change and how past ice-sheet changes are recorded in the geological record. I particularly like teaching the first year students and the on.1()-12o-1.o5ng heurcarir p0-2(ang)-12.2 up-13rcabc9(i)3.1(k)-82.1(m)-122ay.'1